A Parent's Right to Know

Title I

A Parent's Right to Know - What is it?

As part of the requirements of the Every Student Succeeds Act (Public Law 114-95), Section 112 (e)(1)(A), any school district receiving Title I funds must notify the parents of each student attending any school receiving Title I funds that they may request, and the district will provide information regarding the professional qualifications of the student's classroom teachers.

The notice does not itself contain the teacher information; it simply tells parents the types of information that they may request.

At a minimum, if a parent requests it, LEA/school must report:

- Whether the teacher has met state qualifying and licensing criteria for the grade levels and subject areas in which the teacher is teaching;
- Whether the teacher is under emergency or other provisional status through which state qualification or licensing criteria have been waived;
- The baccalaureate degree, major of the teacher, and any other graduate certification or degree held by the teacher, including the field of discipline of the certification or degree; and
- Whether the child is provided services by paraprofessionals and, if so, their qualifications.

In addition, if a child is assigned, or taught by, a teacher who is not "properly licensed" for four or more consecutive weeks, the parents must receive timely notice.

A parent may request policies regarding student participation in state mandated assessments as well as disseminating through public means information on each assessment required by the state.

A Parent's Guide What is Title I?

Title I, Part A of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) provides financial assistance to states and school districts to meet the needs of educationally at-risk students. The goal of Title I is to provide extra instructional services and activities which support students identified as failing or most at risk of failing the state's challenging performance standards.

What will Title I do for my child?

The program provides students extra educational assistance beyond regular classroom instruction.

Tutors

Title tutors are evaluated on a scheduled cycle and are all certified teachers, properly licensed for the grade levels and/or content areas in which they are assigned.

Which schools does Title I Serve?

The program serves students in elementary and middle schools who have demonstrated that extra assistance is needed. In our district this year, Buckeye Elementary, Melridge Elementary, Riverview Elementary and LaMuth Middle School qualify for services. Title I also serve students who attend non-public schools.

How does our school receive Title I money?

First, the federal government provides funding to each state. Then, each State Educational Agency sends money to its school districts. How much money each school receives is determined by the number of low-income students attending that school. Finally, Title I schools: Identify the students at their school who need the most educational assistance based on the criteria that school has chosen. Students do NOT have to be from low-income families to receive Title I services.

What do Title I programs offer?

- Title I programs generally offer small group instruction supports
- Additional tutors
- Opportunities for professional development for school staff
- Extra time for teaching Title I students the skills they need
- A variety of supplementary teaching methods
- Additional teaching materials

How can I get involved?

You can influence the success of your student in school more than any teacher or federal program. By becoming an active participant in the Title I parent involvement plan at your school, you will: Serve as a role model, showing your student that you support his/her education. Assure that you are aware of your student's educational progress; thereby demonstrating how important that progress is to you.

When school personnel, parents, and students all work together, student achievement increases. One of the required documents for the Title I Program is a School Parent Compact, listing the ways each of the parties will assist in student success. The following is the School Parent Compact for Riverside Local Schools.

School Responsibilities-

Buckeye Elementary, Melridge Elementary, Riverview Elementary and LaMuth Middle Schools will:
